Dear Mr. President of Chad

My name is Lucia Brezovská and I am from a small country in Europe Slovakia. I am disturbed to hear news about the poor man you have imprisoned for writing a mere post via Facebook. I understand that he might have written boldly about a very strong topic but I do not think that it is enough of a reason to imprison a father and loving husband for life and have him suffer tuberculosis. He is gravely ill and in need of medicaments he does not get in prison. I was horrified to hear this news. This is not right and you know it, sir. I hope I did not offend you, I did not mean to. I alongside others who are sending these letters am just trying to open your eyes and understand the unrightful act towards this poor man.

Mr. President, please, release Tadjadine Mahamat Babouri, husband, son and a father of seven children known as Mahadine, without delay
