Dear Mr. President,

I am not a true people or nature lover. The reason I am writing this, is to ask you a question. If your family were in life threatening situation, would you not help them? I do not know you personally, but I think everyone would help their loved ones in danger. And your family and countless other people need nature to survive, so in a way, nature is your family. There are people at Milpah that try to protect it, for you, for us, for everyone. And they need you. If you let people, who try to destroy your country do what they want, then you and your loved ones are not safe either. One day you might wake up and those closest to you might be captured or dead, you could be blackmailed or even killed yourself. If you do nothing, you give them the power to do exactly that.

I am not asking for a solution, I am just asking : Will you not give the people at Milpah a chance to make the world better and to protect that what was there long before us?
